

Diagram illustrating a rectangular block with a central square hole. The block is divided into three vertical sections: a hatched left section, a central square hole, and a hatched right section. A dimension line below the block indicates the width of the central square hole is 20.

